Cyber Security Advice for Farmers

The NCSC has worked with the National Farmers Union to support the Agriculture and Farming Sector with a guide especially created for the industry.

The increased use of email, online accounting tools, online payment systems as well as automated farming equipment means that it is increasingly important for farmers and rural communities to look at their growing exposure to cyber risks and how they can best protect themselves and their businesses.

The guide provides information on Updates, Backups, Lost/Stolen Devices, Malware, Passwords, 2 Factor Authentication and More.
